CAROL' CORNER

I love what I do. I meet interesting people who have interesting companies. It is exciting to me when people have an interest in Feng Shui AND impacting the environment through their companies. This month's Featured Client of the month is doing just that.

The red envelope donations continue. The collections for the past month totaled $400. The recipients were HeadFirst Farms (a non-profit organization promoting children's organic gardening programs) and MADD (Mothers Against Drunk Driving).

May 15th was J.C. White Office Furniture's grand opening and 25th anniversary celebration in Miramar, FL. It was a fabulous event and lots of people learned about how Feng Shui was implemented in their 90,000 SF building.

On May 19, I was interviewed on WMNF Community Radio's 88.5FM Rob Lorei Radioactivity program. Dr. Carol Roberts, of Brandon, FL is the co-host every 2 weeks and talks about alternative health. We discussed Feng Shui, EMF, and dowsing!

Summer is here, and the Solstice arrives on June 21st. This is the longest day of the year and a time of many celebrations. As Shakespeare acknowledged in A Midsummer Night's Dream, whatever is dreamed on this night, shall come to pass!

Wishing you bountiful dreams,

Carol Cannon

The Wellness Councils of America (WELCOA) reports that 72% of Americans experience frequent stress-related physical or mental conditions that greatly increase health care costs. Those costs, workers' compensation, and absenteeism exceed $300 billion per year. Feng Shui and plants are one way you can reduce stress in the office or business environment. Plants are a great Feng Shui cure for "Sha" Chi, piercing angles, desks in line with doors, modular furniture systems, and inviting chi into your front door and lobby. There are many health benefits to the use of plants, many of which can be found in "How to Grow Fresh Air", by Dr. B.C. Wolverton (Click Here). A great website on the use of plants at work is: <http://www.plantsatwork.org/research.htm>.

BAU-BIOLOGIE CORNER

Air quality is an important issue in the world of Bau-biologie. One of the best methods for cleaning air is the use of a HEPA filtration system. Any filter that meets an established scientific standard determined by the Institute of Environmental Science is deemed a High Efficiency Particulate Arrestor or HEPA filter. That standard requires the filter to remove 99.97% of all particles 0.3 microns in size or greater and only filters meeting these scientific criteria can be defined as TRUE HEPA. Unfortunately, many people have purchased various types of ozone machines, to clean the air for them. While there is no doubt that Ozone will clean air that has been polluted, people are not always warned about the health effects they may have on human beings. According to the American Lung Association, "Ozone is a potent lung irritant and exposure to elevated levels is a contributor to the exacerbation of lung disease; it is especially dangerous for persons with asthma and other chronic lung diseases, children and the elderly." <http://www.lungusa.org/air2001/effects02.html>

A student shared an important story with me. She had been in a class that I taught a few years ago, when I had warned about the dangers of ozone in the home. A light went off in her head, as she realized that her husband and child contracted pneumonia after they installed the ozone unit in their home. She immediately went home and removed it, and, quite simply, they healed. They were fortunate to realize the ozone impacts before their health deteriorated to a critical point of no return.

FENG SHUI SUCCESS TIP FOR YOUR BUSINESS

^ Top

Incorporate Plants! Here are some ideas: large, potted red plants right outside your main business entry; plants on the receptionist desk that is directly in front of the main door; plants on those square columns in a corner of your office; plants on top of your workstation; plants outside in a missing area of your building; and fresh flowers with aroma on your desk! Plants automatically drop the level of stress for humans, reminding them of their connection to the earth. If you are working inside a sealed window building, try nurturing a plant on your desk to connect you to the sense of outdoor freedom. If you nurture your plant, it will respond in your life. FEATURED CLIENTS OF THE MONTH

^ Top

Downtown Dunedin, FL continues to inspire me. There is an ongoing movement in the direction of environmental awareness and quality of life. This month's featured client is Meilan Mizell, the new owner of The Bohemian Packrat, at 735 Broadway, Dunedin, FL. Meilan, alone, is a breath of fresh air! Her merchandise is a personal favorite. She specializes in natural, organic clothing, particularly hemp, cotton and linen. The store's mission is that neither quality nor value should be sacrificed in order to provide environmentally, economically and socially responsible clothing, gifts and crafts to their customers. I couldn't leave this appointment without personally making a purchase! This store alone is worth a weekend visit to Dunedin, FL. To find out what is waiting for you, call 727-736-1933 or visit their website: www.bohemianpackrat.com email: bohemian.packrat@verizon.net
